

SCENARIO I

ARNHEM

Germans were completely surprised with the assault of British 1st Airborne Division. Field Marshall Model being afraid that he is the target of the attack had ordered to evacuate his HQ.

The main target of the assault was to capture bridges in the lower part of the Rhine river near the city Arnhem so the landing zones for all divisional units were near that city. Due to limited amount of transport planes only 1st Parachute Brigade, 1st Glider Infantry Brigade, two artillery and two antitank battalions have landed on 17th of September.

Those units had been ordered to:

- Capture the City of Arnhem which was 10 km away from LZ
- Secure LZs until till the rest of division lands

British plan predicted only minor resistance but Germans moved II SS Panzer Corps and gen. Tettau's Infantry Division near Arnhem. The city together with northern part of the bridge was place of fierce fights.

SCENARIO III

EINDHOVEN

Tanks attacked first. The tactic was effective against weakened enemy. Attackers were supported by 350 guns of XXX Corps artillery and close air support squadrons.

On the other side, the defending units especially anti-tank company and airborne punitive battalion from Task Force Wiltz (Kampfgruppe) were suffering heavy casualties.

Despite loses the 75mm antitank guns were very effective against attacking tanks from C squadron forcing it to break the advance. Thanks to infantry from 32nd Guard Brigade British forces cleared the small forest within half an hour. To prevent any unnecessary loses the advance was stopped in places which could be used by Germans as traps.
